FIELDNOTES is inviting submissions for its sixth issue!

Open call: 1 September – 1 October 2023

We are seeking non-conforming submissions of text and visual material, including but not limited to: fiction, theory, poetry, interview pitches, conversations, translations, lens-based work, drawing, collage, works-in-progress and ideas in transition. We are interested in new forms between genres and media, experimental modes and poetic innovation.

Contributors selected from the Open Call will be paid a fee (between £100-£200) for original content not published elsewhere (online or in print – this does not include self-publishing).

We are actively seeking contributions from underrepresented groups. Artists and writers who face cultural, social, physical or economic barriers to applying for opportunities in the arts are particularly encouraged to submit. We recognise that barriers come in many forms.

We value every submission, although we cannot publish all the work we receive we are happy to give feedback for all submissions on request. Please request this feedback after you receive our decision, not before.

The best way to get a sense of the kind of work we publish is to buy a copy of a previous issue! Concessions are available in our online shop. We highly recommend getting to know the publication before submitting. All income from sales is used to pay the creatives involved in the project.
